FALL FESTIVAL

The theme of this year's fall festival was "The Joy of Simplicity," drawn from the traditional Shaker hymn 'tis a Gift to be Simple, and was the title of a special convocation Friday including President Schultz, Plowshares, Readers Theatre and a Bob Regier slide show on The Inland Sea. Following the convocation a series of Almost Anything Goes games were held on the green in the wet grass.

The sun appeared on Saturday for the main activities of fall festival featuring the traditional craft and learning fair with spinning, woodcarving, rug weaving, pig butchering and academic exhibits attended by over 7000 people.

The sports events were disappointing for football fans, with Bethel losing the game with Sterling 17-7. For soccer fans however, the opposite was true with Bethel beating Bethany 2-0.

The play this year, Harvey, proved to be a very popular attraction. Despite the scheduling of three performances, tickets for all three shows were sold out early in the week.

An important part of the festival was the wide variety of foods, such as zwieback, monster cookies, Dairy Queen, the chicken barbecue and the traditional german meal.

The yearly auction proved a success with the highest priced item, a quilt, made and donated by the First Mennonite Church of Newton, going for more than $2,000.

Musical events are also a well enjoyed part of fall festival. Featured on Saturday were the Gospel Choir, the Jazz Band, Plowshare and the Threshing Machine.

HARVEY

Is there such a thing as an invisible, six-foot white rabbit that answers to the name of Harvey?

This seems to be the main question raised in this year's Fall Festival production of Harvey, a three-act comedy directed by Robert L. Clack. Harvey deals with a man thought by his family to be neurotic because of his loyalty to a constant companion, Harvey. The scales are turned in the end, however, when the possibility is presented that maybe just such a character exists.

STUDENT ACTIVITY CENTER

The Student Activity Center plays a central part in the daily life of Bethel, as it houses such necessities as the dining room, bookstore, snack bar and game room.

The 1982 senior class boasts the distinction of being the first class to use the SAC for four years and is one of the few points on campus where both resident and non-resident students regularly congregate either for daily meals or merely to stop in for a snack or to get minor essentials at the bookstore.

One new addition to the SAC this year was a new director, Jim Huxman, formerly of the Admissions office. Other additions were a color TV in the snack bar, a rearrangement of the serving line in the dining hall, and the latest video games in the game room.

CHRISTMAS BANQUET

FELIZ NAVIDAD was the theme, December 4, for the Bethel Christmas Banquet. Festivities included La Bienvenida and La Despedida preformed by the Reader's Theatre Department. The Madrigal Singers sang during Las Posadas and also presented a synthesis of dance and folk music in Ariel Ramirez's Misa Criolla. La Fiesta da Navidad included breaking of a pinata, more songs and stories and a folk dance by Ron Brunk and Sharon Koehn. The Mexican menu was provided by El Servecio de Las Comidas del Oesta (Western Food Service.)

Academics

Biology

The Biology department attempts to answer questions about the dynamics of the living process and the way in which living organisms are adapted to survive. Searching for those answers, biology students diligently study such courses as Cellular Biology, Genetics, and Developmental Biology. Seniors keep busy preparing their seminar research projects. Long hours spent working in the laboratory is another part of the biology experience. During this year, major equipment has been purchased for the department and phase II of the renovation of Science Hall has been completed.

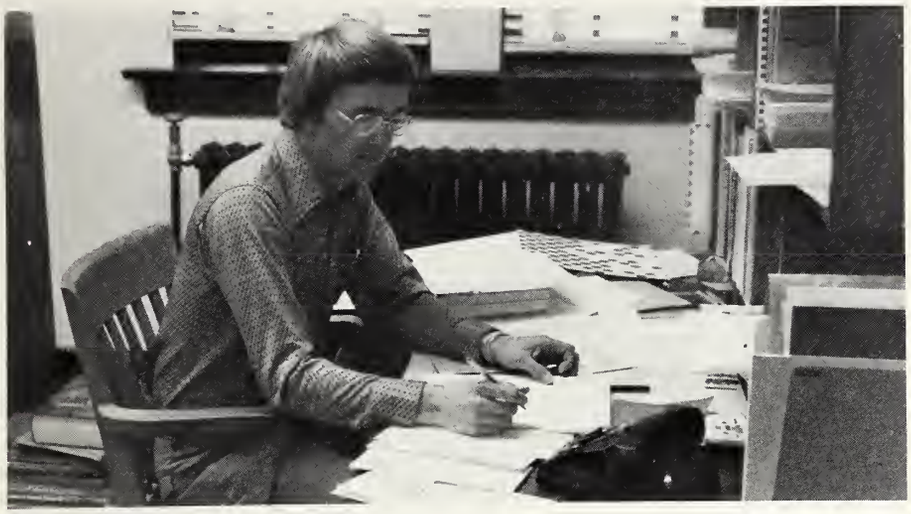
Chemistry



New additions made 1981-82 a memorable year for the chemistry department. New equipment was purchased, and the department was given a new environment. Students are now able to use an atomic absorption spectrophotometer and a gas chromatagraph with flame ionization detector. The old office and neighboring lab space have been completely redesigned and renovated to provide more space.

Physics

The physicist is never completely satisfied in knowing what happens without knowing why. The aim of the Physics Department is to provide students with an understanding of the basic laws of physics and their application. Classes and lectures are also designed to cultivate a student's enjoyment, curiosity, and exploration of the surrounding environment.

Bethel offers a pre-engineering program based in the Physics Department which is coordinated with the engineering schools at the University of Kansas and Kansas State University. While at Bethel, the student is able to acquire a strong liberal arts background essential to approaching many problems encountered in modern engineering.

Math

The Math department this year boasts four new computers, four Commander 832 Dual disc and printers. The computer program is an increasingly important part of the math program and features a variety of course offerings such as Introduction to Computers, Fortran, and Cobol.

1. Ron Headings helps Herman Bubbert with his homework.
2. Arnold Wedel, Math Professor.
3. Richard Rempel, Math Professor.

English

The English Department encourages students to learn how to write correctly and to understand the art and human values in literature. The department offers a variety of courses including Expository Writing and English Review. A communication minor is also offered through this department, which is an asset to any major. Last year the department took a tour to London, England and plans are being made for a future trip.

The English Department also works with the Learning Resource Center located at the very top of the Ad Building. The Learning Resource Center provides individual tutoring and larger supplemental reviews to help students in other courses.

Languages

The Language Department prepares students for high school teaching, for graduate study, and provides basic language training for those interested in careers in other fields. Students in the Language Department are encouraged to spend time abroad, and because of its small size, special programs can be designed around individual student needs. Currently, the languages being taught at Bethel are French, German, Greek and Spanish.

Philosophy

A love of wisdom is one quality philosophy students might possess. Philosophy classes provide a setting for serious interchange of ideas among students and between students and teachers. Philosophy has an important critical and integrating role to play in a liberal arts curriculum beyond the type of education it provides for a philosophy major.

Marion Deckert is the new addition to the department. The 1981-82 term marks his first year as a faculty member. A small group of wisdom-seeking students met monthly to discuss the philosophy of science.

Bible and Religion

The Bible and Religion Department, headed by Duane Friesen, is designed to offer numerous opportunities for students growth in awareness of self. One of the highlights of this year was having George Brunk as theologian in Residence. New Testament Studies, the class he taught during interterm, let graduate and undergraduate students all work together. However, this department offers courses besides just those for Religion majors. Several classes are offered for general education requirements. One of these classes, Basic Issues of Faith and Life—or BIEL—is, as Duane Friesen says, "the highlight of senior experiences!"

Art

A major addition to the Art department this year was the opening of the new ceramics lab in the basement of Memorial Hall. Previously ceramics students shared a room with sculpture and other classes in the Fine Arts Center. Shown on this page is some of the handiwork from this new lab. Gail Lutsch, a new art instructor, taught classes such as water color which have not been offered before by the department.

Music

The various choirs of the music department were again very active this year with their performances. The Madrigals supplied the music and gave entertainment at the annual Christmas Fest banquet, Bethel College music students put on an opera in the spring and the Oratorio Chorus gave their performance in May. The high point for the College Choir this year was an interterm trip to Europe, touring and singing in four different countries.

Drama

Learning by doing is the motto of the Drama Department. This department provides students with training and practice in all areas of dramatic production. Student casts and crews brought five major productions to the Bethel stage. Summer theater workshops are offered in conjunction with the Newton community theater. The department lends technical support to the National Shakespeare Company, a major touring company whose performance here include the Joeffry II Ballet and P.D.Q. Bach. Drama students are involved in other activities besides acting. The National Dramatic Fraternity, Alpha Omega, has been reinstated at Bethel. They have taken trips to broadway tour shows in Kansas City and Wichita.

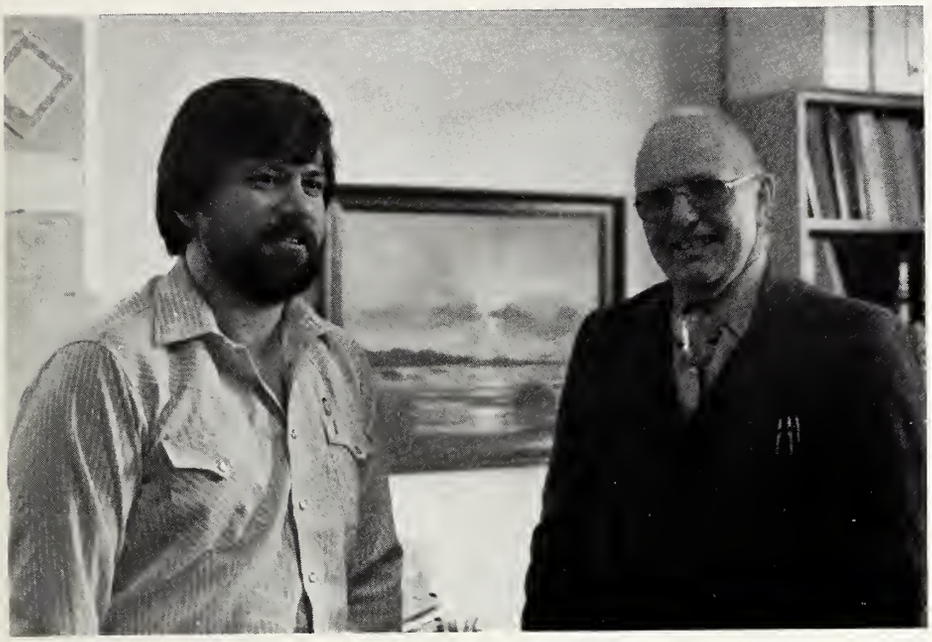
Economics and Business



This year the former departments of Economics and Business Administration and Secretarial Studies combined to form the department of Economics and Business. This was also the first full year of operation for the Business Insights club which was organized in the spring of 1981. Karl Simpson, head of the Economics and Business department, wished to emphasize through his courses the practicability of knowledge learned—which, he said, aids the learning process and which ultimately helps graduates secure jobs congruent to their goals. This year the Economics and Business department had eighteen graduates.

Ron Brunk and Karl Simpson are on the faculty.

History

The Historian's task, according to Clio, the muse of History, is to recall the deeds of the past and bring them to life again while enlivening them with present concerns.

The History program encompasses about twenty students and boasts eight senior History majors.

After specializing in tours to the USSR for several years Keith Sprunger led the first European Capitals tour of about thirty students during Interterm.

The department also expanded career preparation to include courses in Oral History and Archival Management and continued building an archive on the Vietnam War using oral history interviews, photos and video tapes. A special Vietnam Seminar was taught by James Juhnke in the fall.

Political Science

Political Science is broadly defined as the interdisciplinary study of political phenomenon and because there is no generally accepted theory of politics, virtually anyone at any stage of their intellectual development can make a contribution to the field.

Bethel offers only a minor in Political Science and there are about six students involved in the program.

The department is manned by Charles Benjamin who studies politics on a wider scale as he enters the second year of his five year Harvey County Commission term.

The Political Science department at Bethel is integrated into the college with a particular emphasis toward the Peace Studies and Environmental Studies curricula.

Psychology

Why do humans behave as they do? That is the question the Psychology Department tries to answer by giving students a balanced and objective view of human behavior. The Bethel Psychology Department has been gradually turning their facilities into a respectable laboratory. In the new lab, students will be able to study child and social behavior using Bethel's radio equipment. The department has added new equipment for conditioning research which can be tied into the computer.

Besides giving lectures, the Psychology professors are also busy with their own research. Doug Penner is currently researching aging and the Mennonites. Dwight Krehbiel is working with the Garvey Foundation in Wichita on the biochemistry of behavior.

Sociology

Sociology specializes in the study of human relationships within groups. Its primary subject matter is human societies, their patterns and processes. This department's goal is to develop an awareness of society and to think scientifically about society.

Some changes have occurred in the department this year. Courses have been modified to reflect the International interest. The Wichita weekend was a new program that began in the spring. This program consisted of students spending a weekend in Wichita conversing with officials about housing problems and governmental issues.

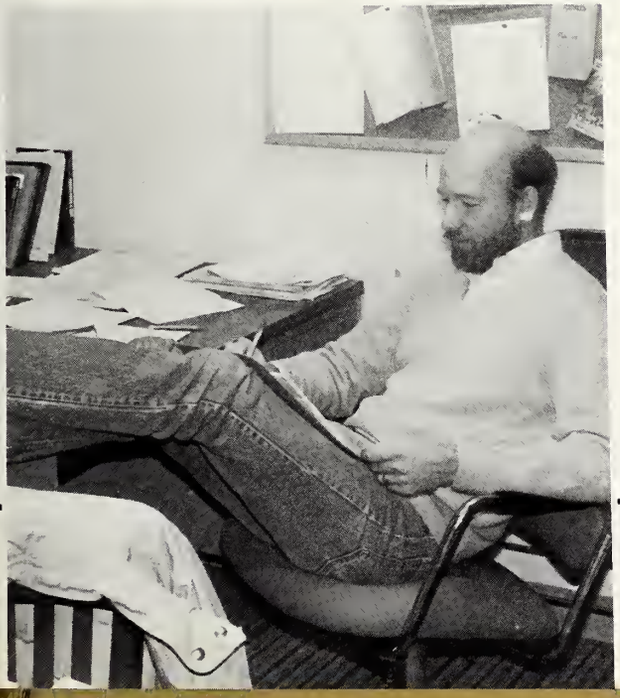
Social Work

The terms reflection, paraphrase, confrontation, and interpretation become familiar to students in the Social Work department. This department provides students with opportunities to use those and other skills learned in class. The new Peer Counseling Service gave people a chance to talk with someone they trust or to let off steam. To gain more practical experience, seniors work at institutions such as Schowalter Villa, Bethel Hospital, Midkap, or Prairie View. In a time when our society is becoming more complex and urban, the Social Work department is preparing students to deal with the rising tensions and crises of this society.



Donna Neufeld, Don Schmidt and Miller Stayrook serve as the Social Work professors.

HPER

The Health, Physical Education, and Recreation program is designed to develop—in students majoring in physical education—the competencies necessary for successful performance as a physical education teacher and in graduate studies. This program is also designed to develop in each Bethel College student, for the activities selected, the skill knowledge, and emotional competencies which encourage continued participation and enjoyment following the college years.

3. Diane Flickner. 4 George Rogers.
5. Students learn how to play badminton in one of many activity classes offered by HPER.

Secretarial Studies

Secretarial Studies can be an important asset for anyone who is interested in the working world. Bethel offers a two year Associate of Arts Degree in this area and requires the Business Education Majors to learn the skills. Students can choose Executive Secretary, General Business or Accounting as their areas of interest.

Some of the fun activities they have done are the Balloon Booth at Fall Fest and the upcoming 7th Annual Business Skill Contest for High School Students. This contest has been requested by their teachers as a way of encouragement. The Secretarial Procedures in Administration Class plans and organizes this busy day for over 200 students.

A new addition to the department this year is a Word Processer.

Home Economics

Bethel offers students the opportunity to major in Home Economics education or General Home Economics with an option in foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, housing and equipment, family and child relations or consumer economics. Improvements made during the past year—the chairs were replaced in the lecture classroom, an overhead demonstration mirror was added and the appliances replaced in the foods lab. Bethel college home economics majors are active in the Bethel Home Economics Club, the state Home Economics Student Section of KHEA and Kappa Omicron Phi, a national honorary which recognizes outstanding Home Economics students.

Industrial Arts

Energy is one topic studied by students in the Industrial Arts department. As a part of the energy studies, students designed and built a solar system/greenhouse to heat the Industrial Arts annex and to use as a teaching device. Bethel sponsored a trip to energy-related projects and programs in Colorado and New Mexico during interterm. Sites visited by the group included a nuclear power station, solar buildings, and wind turbine test programs. The department is also proud of the photography lab, which is perhaps the best educational lab in the state according to Emerson Wiens.

Nursing

In the spring of 1982 Bethel College saw its first seniors in the nursing department graduate. This fairly new department, which was added to Bethel four years ago, has continued to grow with more and more prospective nursing students being enrolled each year. The twelve graduating seniors along with their nursing instructors have certainly unearthed a lot of ground and have helped to pave the way for the future nursing graduates of Bethel College.

Teacher Education

Students in the education department were involved in various activities throughout the year with the highlights being a math workshop in Wichita, a learning factory workshop and helping with the special olympics. Thirty-nine new graduates were produced from the department in the fields of secondary education and elementary education and four with K-12 certificates.

Faculty members are Jude Krehbiel, William Vendever and Lorene Goering.

Peace Studies

The Peace Studies Program includes the study of global relationships, conflict between persons, groups, institutions, and nations. It is designed to give the student an understanding of the nature and causes of human conflict, the factors which contribute to peace with justice, and the processes by which conflict can be managed creatively so as to bring about fundamental social changes. An exciting aspect of the Peace Studies Department this year was the interterm trip to Washington, D.C., with the Peace Fellowship group.

Life Enrichment

It has often been said that a person is never to old to learn. Many colleges and universities have older than the average students, which proves there is truth to the old saying. Bethel is no exception; older students are seen on the BC campus. Bethel also has a special group of elderly students. These are the senior citizens who come to the Life Enrichment sessions every Wednesday. By eating in the cafeteria, other students have the opportunity to talk with and to learn from these Life Enrichment folks. Many will reap the benefits of this Life Enrichment program.

Readers Theater

Bethel has eight small, talented performing groups, better known as Readers Theatre. Readers Theatre, coached by Ada Mae Haury, is a group of students who meet twice a week. During these meetings, these students practice expressing themselves as characters in different scripts. The groups range from beginners to advanced students. These groups perform approximately fifty times during the semester for clubs, convos, schools, and other organizations.

AFTER THE RAIN

The fall drama, "After the Rain," was performed on the Bethel stage November 19, 20, and 21. Taking place two hundred years in the future, "After the Rain," was presented as a lecture series to members of the society. This history lecture instructed society members and rehabilitated criminals to re-enter society. Arthur, one criminal, breaks the society's rules by killing himself. This action raises moral issues from which the audience draws their own conclusions.

This production was a unique Bethel experience for both the cast and the audience. To make the play a total experience, announcements of "Bring the prisoners" or "Are the prisoners ready" were made in the foyer prior to showtime. Artifacts such as silverware, a burnt pencil, and the cardboard tube from a roll of toilet paper were on display. No curtains were used and the props and set were at a minimum. During rehearsals, the cast learned mime techniques and were instructed by a hypnotist how to act like patients under hypnosis. For collectors of Arlo Kasper trivia, "After the Rain" was the same play he used in his doctoral thesis.

Football

Although the Bethel College football team started out with a loss, ended up with a loss, and lost every game in between except one, their season was not totally all for naught. Why? Because the game that they did win was against one of their oldest and toughest rivals ever, Tabor. "Winning that game makes the rest of the season not seem so bad," stated center Tim Conrad. "I don't care so much anymore that we lost every other game, beating Tabor was worth it."

The Threshers, although they had a rather disappointing season, placed four of their members on the all-KCAC football team. They were: Randy McPherson — first team defensive lineman; Larry Cole — second team linebacker; Mike Kaufman — honorable mention offensive lineman; and Ron Reber — honorable mention defensive lineman.

Each year the Threshers also give out individual team awards. This year the recipients of these awards were: Keith Collie — Top Offensive Player; Randy McPherson — Top Defensive Player; Mike Kaufman — Best Blocker; George Leary — Top Freshman; Nathan Hart, Jerold Heidi, and Ron Reber were the Un-sung Heros; and the three most improved players were Jerold Heide, Joe Cramer, and Weston Van Beck.

Quarterback Dan Frye, trying to find an open receiver, enjoys the time that his offensive line is providing for him.

Although they weren't the best in the league, the Thresher defense did hold it's own when their help was needed.

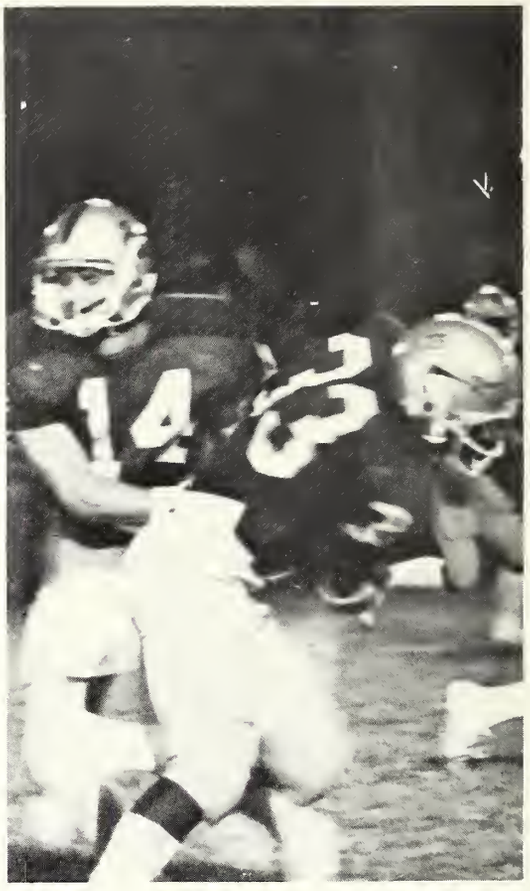
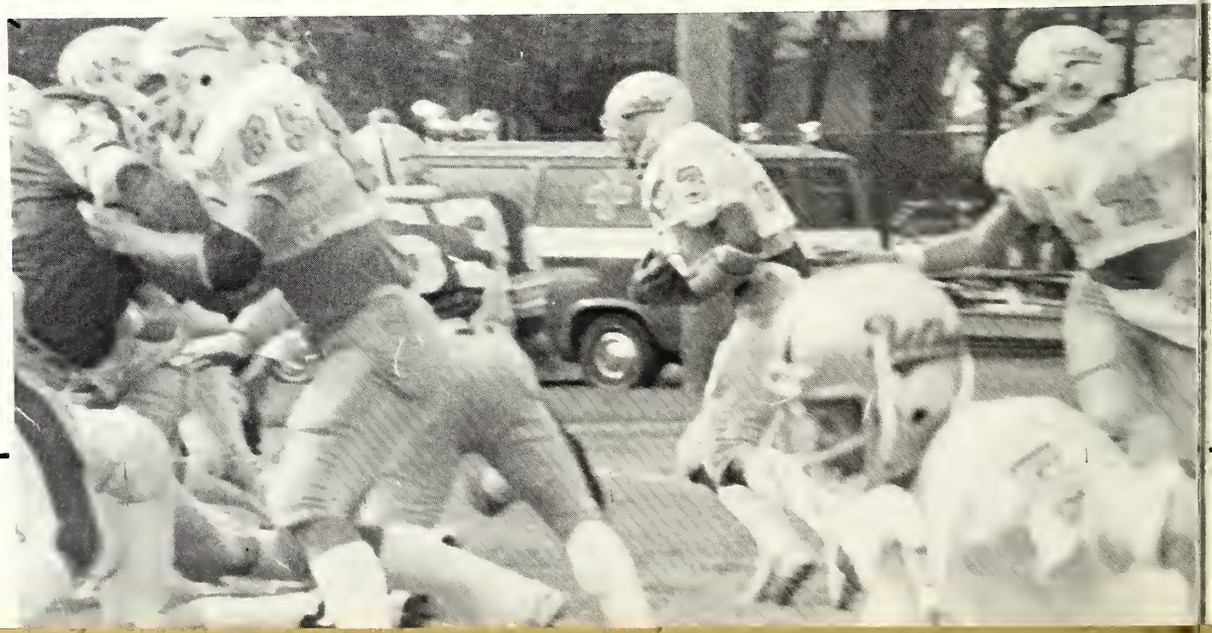
Football



Nathan Hart played an important role in the Thresher offense this year, as many times he was called upon to get some points on the board.

Alternating between fullback and tailback, freshman Keith Collie, number 33, earned the honor of offensive player of the year for the Thresher gridders.



VOLLEYBALL

Bethel Volleyball. How does one describe such a tradition of excellence? The description could begin with a list of accomplishments by the 1981 team:

Pre Season

Gussie Invitational at Tulsa 1st
Bethel Invitational at Bethel 2nd
Hurricane Invitational at Tulsa 1st

Conference

Undefeated 1st

State

Undefeated 1st

Bi-Districts

at Oklahoma 1st

Nationals

First time in Bethel History 3rd
Overall Record 51-5

But this alone is not sufficient, a tradition is not built in one year. There are many elements which come together to form the Bethel College Volleyball Team. Past players building the tradition—making the footprints, all players working to improve their total person—spiritually, emotionally, academically and physically, building the character it takes to represent Bethel College with pride and class.

As Bethel Volleyball head coach, Diane Flickner admits it is difficult to find just the right words to describe her team. "I have a lot of respect and love for them. I am also very proud of what they've done on the court for themselves, for me and for the institution."

Anyone who experiences this tradition, as coach, player or spectator, leaves with the knowledge that he or she has been a part of something special.

National Volleyball

The Bethel College Women's Volleyball Team made history this year as, for the first time ever, they earned the right to compete in the National Volleyball Tournament in Athens, West Virginia.

After being ranked 9th, 7th and 4th in the nation at various times and earning the 6th seed at the actual tournament, the Bethel Volleyball Team didn't stop until they took 3rd place, leaving only one team they had faced unbeaten.

"Together we can climb mountains, dream dreams, and even play volleyball." This year, 'The Class of 1981' scaled the mountains to new heights, understood what it was like to live a dream, and, more than anything else, they played volleyball the only way they knew how—with excellence.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Tennis is an individual sport and requires a strong mental attitude as well as physical skill. The Bethel College Women's Tennis Team is a good example of both. The 1981 team found success as they combined many individual victories to form team accomplishments. Having their best season ever, they finished with a conference record of 7-1, placed 2nd in the KCAC Conference Tournament, and took many individual honors.

Cross Country

The Bethel College thinclads had a rather quiet season this year as most of the time they were participating in meets without a full team. "We started out with a full squad," commented second year runner Tim Lohrentz, "but after our first and second meets we began losing people left and right."

If the season would have continued as well as the first two meets had, the thinclads would have had a tremendous year. In their first meet, a duel with McPherson, Bethel placed three of their runners in the top four places, and in their second meet, a five-mile race at Hesston, they repeated their previous feat, but that's when the injuries set in. For their next meet, which was in Manhattan, they had only four persons run, three men and one woman.

The woman that participated in the K-State meet was Angie Smith. She was the first woman to ever compete on the B.C. team, and she did well. In fact, in her last meet, the KCAC meet, she placed eighth with a time of 22:17.

Soccer

The Soccer Team's defense did a fine job by holding their opponents to an average of less than one goal per game.

The Bethel Soccer Club came away with a very successful '81 fall season, as they finished with an overall record of 8-2-1. Their only blemishes were 0-1 losses to the Aztecas and Hesston College, and a tie with the Wichita Independents early in the season.

In their league, which is the Division II of the Kansas Soccer League, they finished with a record of 5-1-1. That excellent posting gave them sole ownership of the league title until next spring when they will put their title on the line with a new season.

The keys that made the Threshers go were their outstanding defense and their well-balanced, explosive offense. Their defense held their opponents to a total of eight goals all season, while their offense marked up a total of 35. Eleven different players scored at least once, and Kenton Wiens led the team with twelve.

Pictured here is the Bethel "tree," a design soon to be seen on many Bethel publications. This design has been chosen to become a visual symbol for Bethel College in the next few years.

The design is symbolic of Bethel in that the many parts (leaves) make up the whole (tree), as Bethel is made up of many different people, departments, majors, etc. There is diversity and separation yet overall unity. The tree suggests life and growth as Bethel is a living and growing community. The tree also suggests the concept of a family as within the Bethel family context.

As editor I want to thank the few but enthusiastic people who found the time to work so hard and finished the Thresher on time. If you are not satisfied with our results I hope that you intend to join the 1983 Thresher staff.

Special thanks to Bob Regier for the cover design, Carolyn Wedel for the layout scheme and to occasional photographers David Harms, Rod Kliewer, Paul Rudy, Eric Shelly and Grant Unrau.

1982 Spring Activities

The Western Food Service staff: Dennis Staley, Cindee Evenson; Paul Culp, Kay Sollers, Irene Sims, Mark Kraner, Hans Vandever, Gene Andrews.

A record twelve students qualified for the American Forensics Association National Tournament at Mankato State University in Mankato, Minnesota. The fourth place finish among all colleges and universities at the nation's most prestigious tournament was also a school record. Finalists included Susan Schultz, second in rhetorical criticism; Ron Headings, second in informative speaking; Lance Carrithers, fourth in poetry and fifth in dramatic duo; and Valerie Orr, fifth in duo.

The Shadowbox

There are many feelings experienced by a dying person as they see their life coming to an end. They go through many stages of self denial, anger, bargaining, depression, and then finally accept what is happening to them. But inside they never seem to give up hope. This play dealt with three dying people and their loved ones who suffered with them.

Two Operas

A team effort by the drama and the music departments produced two operas in the spring. THE IMPRESARIO featured Kris Hiebert as Madame Goldentrill, a retiring opera star, and Arlene Jantz as Miss Silverpeal, an aspiring actress. In this comedy, Mr. Angel, played by Brad Eberly, gets caught between these two sopranos as they compete for the same role with an opera company.

The second opera, GIANNI SCHICCI, centered around the Donati Family. A wealthy family member dies leaving all his possessions to the friars. His angered relatives hire Gianni Schicci, played by William Schmidt, to pose as the deceased and write a new will. Contrary to the relatives' wishes, Gianni writes a will in which he leaves everything to himself.

Men's Basketball

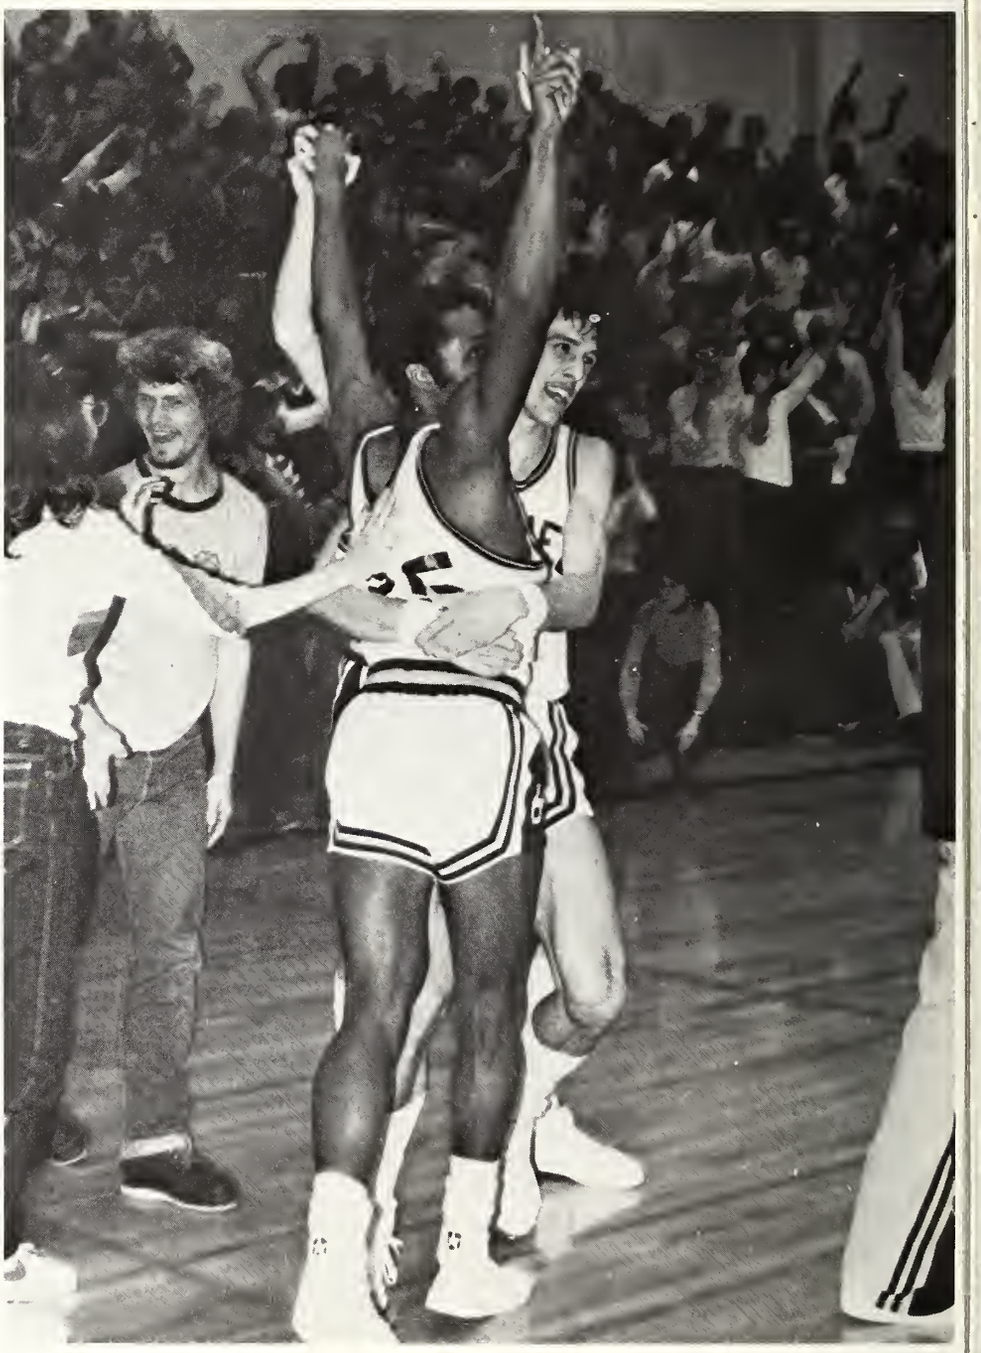
The Bethel College men's basketball team, with the aid of a new head coach, Jim Robb, and a good second half of the season, finished with a KCAC record of 8-8 and an overall record of 10-14.

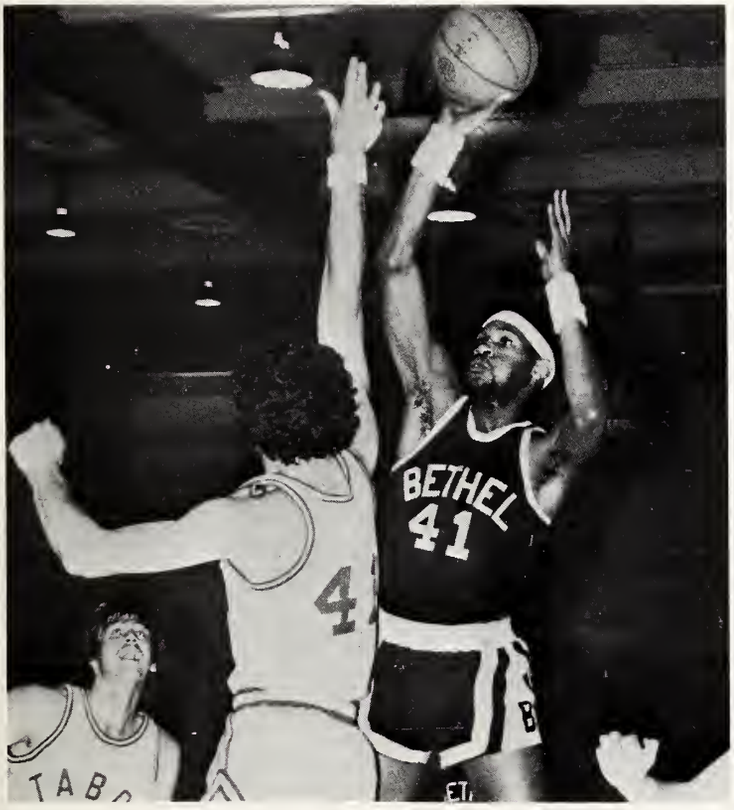
Robb stated, "It may have taken awhile for the new system to catch on, but once it did, we started doing better."

Better is just how they did, as the Threshers finished off the season winning three straight, including a spectacular Yes-I-did-dunk-it-at-the-buzzer victory over conference leading Tabor, as James Poarch slammed down the winning bucket as time ran out.

What is the outlook for next year? Looking at who the team is losing to graduation, Curtis Bonds, James Poarch, and Steve Klassen, one might say that the next year might be a rough one. But ask head coach Jim Robb, and there is a touch of optimism in his voice. He states, "Our offense was designed so that they (Bonds, Poarch, and Klassen) were very important. Of course we'll miss them, but somebody will step in."

The J-V suffered through a rather disappointing season as they won only two games throughout the year. A lack of big men hurt the young team greatly, but the outlook for incoming students is good, so hopefully things will go better next year.





1. Junior Mike Wedel played an important role in the overall composure of the Threshers throughout the season. 2. The Number One goes up as James Poarch and Steve Klassen celebrate after dunking conference leading Tabor 64-62. 3. Steve Klassen, one of the three seniors on the squad, played consistently all season which was a great benefit to the Thresher squad. 4 Curtis "U.S." Bonds turned out to be a dominating force inside, and led the team in scoring with an 18 ppg average.

Women's Basketball

The 1981-82 season was one filled with ups and downs for the Bethel College Women's Basketball Team. The final 7-15 record does not tell the whole story behind the young squad. It was a year of rebuilding, a year of frustration, a year of triumph.

With a new coach at the helm and only three returning players, the Threshers saw a new team begin to take shape. According to head coach Dave Deutschendorf, the new players proved to be a real strength as they improved and filled the gaps. Returning players Judy Unruh, Sandy Hiebert, and Lori DeGarmo helped the team with their experience and provided leadership.

The future holds promise for the young Thresher squad, as they continue reaching for their potential.

Men's Tennis

Highlighted by the fact that they placed second in the KCAC conference tournament, and by the fact that they sent two of their players, junior Kevin Lehr and freshman Todd Esau to district playoffs, a first for any team from Bethel, the men's tennis team had a very successful season.

Number three, Wendel Funk, number four, David Weaver, number five Jeff Balleau, and number six Marvin Kim also did well during the season and played an important role in the high finish of the team at conference.

One more highlight of the season was the fact that the head coach, Paul Thiessen received "Coach of the Year" honors in the KCAC. This award was given as a result of his team going from last place in the conference to second place within the course of a year.

The outlook for next year is very good, as the Threshers will have everyone returning. Add a few new recruits in the hat and the netters will be looking forward to another great season.

Track

In a successful 1982 season, The Bethel College Track Team saw many individual improvements, including school records broken in both the 400-meter and metric discus events by Debbie Regier and Tim Conrad respectively.

About half of the 35-member squad qualified for districts, while both the women's medley and mile relays put in an impressive performance in qualifying for National competition.

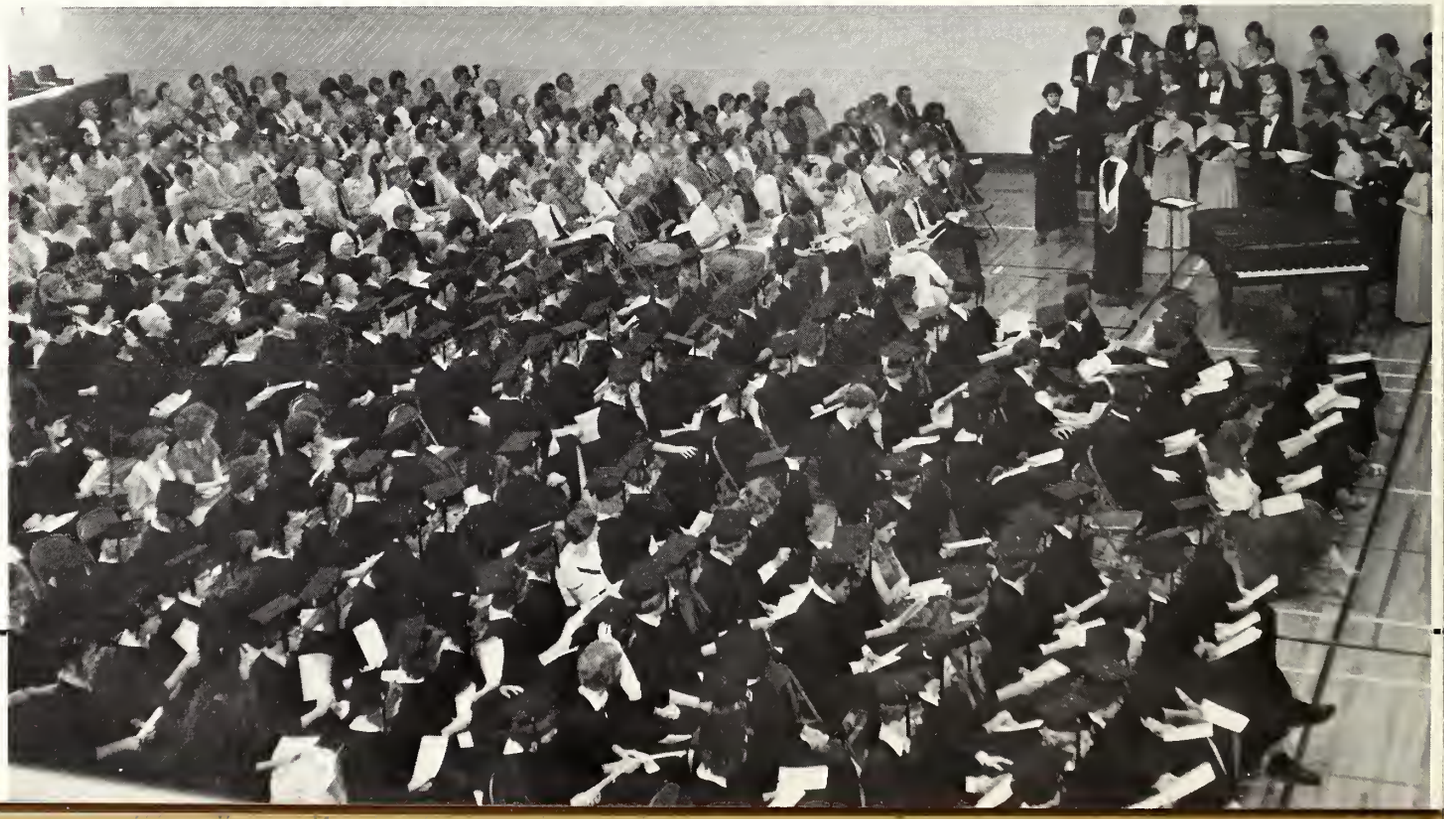
Graduation

May 23 will be a day the class of 1982 will remember. That was the day they were awarded the degrees they had worked hard to earn. The commencement exercises held on that Sunday marked the achievement of one goal for the graduating class.

Graduation day began with baccalaureate services planned by the graduating students followed by a noon buffet for the seniors and their parents. Commencement exercises began in the afternoon after the seniors took the traditional march around the green. "When We Get Where We're Going, Will We Be Where We Want to Be" was the topic of the commencement address given by Marilyn Miller, co-pastor of the Arvada Mennonite Church. Others appearing on the platform during the ceremony were Rev. Phil Chastain, pastor of the Dellrose United Methodist Church in Wichita, Registrar Melvin Goering, Academic Dean Robert Hinshaw, and President Harold Schultz. Music was provided by the Bethel College Wind Ensemble and Choir.



1. Following the ceremonies students, graduates, parents, professors and friends flocked outside for some fresh air and fellowship. 2. The College Choir performed several numbers before the awarding of degrees. 3. Graduating seniors pass through a gauntlet of professors and administrators on their way to commencement exercises. 4. Students admitted to the Bethel Honor Society in 1982 include Susan Schultz, Elaine Regier Suderman, Judy Unruh, Ron Headings, Janice Ediger, Joe Harder, David Harder, Karl Lehman and David Kreider.
